

SPOTLIGHT

Fast Fuel

By Britni Rushton, Upstate MSR

Fast Fuel in Williamston is definitely a hot spot for lottery players! This location has expertly used some of the “Best Practices” highlighted in this issue to increase their lottery sales.

For starters, long time clerks Katie, Ann and Vicki (pictured) always welcome new and returning players to their store. But that’s not all Fast Fuel is doing right.

Lottery players appreciate the store’s ticket dispensers are always full! The only time an empty slot exists is on a Tuesday, when they are waiting for new tickets to be delivered. They also always display their winner alert posters to show off all the winners they’ve had. This is a great advertisement to new players! And, if you have any tickets that need to be cashed in, they are always eager to do so!

Fast Fuel is the place to be! If you’re traveling through Williamston, stop in. They’d be happy to talk with you about their Lottery success!

BEST PRACTICES

Fishing for ideas to improve your lottery sales? Bait your hook with the "Best Practices" in this issue and wait for a nibble.

Gather your crew and share our tips to help reel in increased lottery sales at your store.

These "Best Practices" are a lifesaver.

So, what's the catch? There isn't one.

You don't have to go overboard, just jump on in and give them a go. With a little practice and patience, you'll net some "reel" results.

Set sail to improve lottery sales when you...

-  ASK FOR THE SALE – Ask customers if they'd like to try a lottery ticket. You could earn a new player.
-  Say "Thanks" – Thank customers for playing and wish them good luck. They'll buy from you again.
-  Cash winning tickets – Paying winners means more money to spend in your store.
-  Recognize winners – Display winning tickets and winners' posters so customers know your store sells winning tickets.
-  Keep ticket dispensers full – An empty selling slot will cost you a sale. Keep dispensers fully stocked.
-  Update jackpot signs – Make sure Powerball® and Mega Millions® jackpot signs are correct. Sales increase as jackpots grow.
-  Set goals – Decide where you want your lottery sales to be a year from now and plan with your staff strategies to make it happen.

BEFORE YOU CAST

The same preparation that goes into getting ready for a fishing trip applies to selling lottery tickets. That's where this newsletter comes in handy. By staying informed about the Lottery's latest games, promotions, events and offerings, you'll be able to properly assist players. Players will frequent retailers who are knowledgeable and can answer questions correctly.

! IMPORTANT MESSAGE

Due to the pandemic, the Lottery's Retailer Inventory Accountability policy was suspended. On July 1st this policy will be reactivated. All retailers will start with zero violations; however, any violation after July 1 will be counted and subject to the policy. Please review your internal processes to ensure that all instant ticket shipments are verified and any discrepancies are reported to Lottery Security. Also, ensure all staff knows that after the last day to sell a game, the inventory must be pulled from your dispensers. Your Lottery Rep will review the policy with you in June to assist in preparing your store for the reactivation.

Jumbo Bucks Series Gets a Makeover

The Jumbo Bucks Series of scratch-offs that has become a popular staple at your store is getting a brand new look this month. The updated design mimics actual dollar bills with the faces of Hamilton, Jackson, Grant and Ben Franklin.

These tickets sparkle too, thanks to copper LuxShimmer printing. And two of them got a fatter top prize. Players can now win up to $250,000 on the $5 Giant Jumbo Bucks game and up to $375,000 on the $10 Mighty Jumbo Bucks ticket.

What didn't change are the features your players have come to expect. The Jumbo Bucks Series of tickets are still loaded with prizes and a chance to find a JUMBO symbol for an even bigger payday.

Lucky for Life Game Ends June 28

The Lucky for Life game is ending in South Carolina on Monday, June 28, 2021. Please thank your Lucky for Life players for supporting this game that has created nearly six million winners in our state. And thank you for making all of these winning moments possible.
